WET WEATHER DID NOT HINDER SALE

Jordan's Semi-Annual Clearance Draws Patronage Despite Cold Days

Strange as it may seem, Jordan's January sale of all kinds of ready-to-wear clothing for ladies did not languish during the worst of the recent rainy spell, but went ahead with as much vim as at any other time, according to Manager M. M. Whan.

The sale is a semi-annual event at Jordan's, where all dresses, suits, coats, waists and other women's clothing is sold to make place for new stock. This, it is said, has been one of the most successful of all sales conducted by the firm and the crowd in the store today bore out the assertion. The sale will continue through the month of January.

Jordan's millinery department is being well patronized now and the wide choice of hats allowed through the store's policy of carrying a large stock of late models is attracting more and more buyers.

AERO SQUADRON GOING THROUGH ON SHERIDAN

Definite word that the U. S. army transport Logan sailed from San Francisco Friday, January 7, for Panama to pick up the 27th Infantry, tied up with the transport Buford at Cristobal, Canal Zone, was brought to Honolulu this morning by the U. S. army transport Sheridan, which docked at 7:56 at Pier 10, from San Francisco, and will sail at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon for Guam and Manila. The Sheridan arrived off port here at 1:45 this morning.

The transport's wireless operator, Sgt. Turner, picked up the Logan and learned from her that she had sailed from San Francisco for Panama January 7, and is due to arrive here February 7. Army officers on the Sheridan said the Logan loaded a large cargo of armor plate at San Francisco for Philippine fortifications. She will come direct to Honolulu from Panama, and will take 2000 tons of coal here.

Aero Corps Aboard. On board the Sheridan is the second aero squadron of the Aero Corps. It is the first company of army aviators to be sent to the Philippines. There are 34 enlisted men, mechanics, helpers and the like and five officers in the squadron, which will be stationed at Corregidor.

Passengers brought to Honolulu by the transport were 31 first-cabin, 10 second, 114 troop and three stowaways—two negroes and a white man. When the transport left San Francisco there were on board 118 first-cabin, 156 second, 1467 troop and 196 crew, making the total number of souls 1933.

Freight for Honolulu was 739 cubic tons. The transport brought 26 bags of mail from San Francisco, and will take 800 tons of freight from here. Her master is Capt. William A. Carleton. Charles A. Ronan is the quartermaster's agent, and his clerk is E. V. Brown.

Miss Jane Addams, greatly improved, returned to Hull House, Chicago, from a hospital where she had been a patient for several weeks.

WANT HONOLULU CHINESE TO AID CHINA MAIL LINE

co are giving the China Mail their undivided support," said Mr. Fong. "On this trip, we turned away 150 steerage passengers and 6000 tons of freight. San Francisco's Chinese have pledged us that they will not ship any freight by the Japanese lines, and Chinese passengers feel the same way." Could Sell At Big Gain.

The China Mail's secretary added that the big corporation purchased the China for $300,000, and that shortly after the deal had been consummated, it was offered a sum between $450,000 and $500,000 for the staunch old steamer. This was refused.

Both Mr. Fong and Mr. Sum expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the progress being made by the China Mail, and said the outlook for obtaining support in Honolulu in the matter of both freight, passengers and stock subscriptions, appears very bright.

"We turned away 150 steerage passengers this trip, and 100 the trip before," said Mr. Fong. "It is our hope to be able to buy more steamers, but we cannot do that until cash subscriptions reach a sufficient amount to make this possible."

Purser K. W. Clark said the China Mail could secure business enough, both freight and passenger, to keep four steamers busy.

Mr. Fong said that the China Mail allows German merchants to travel from China to San Francisco and vice versa. Since the Pacific Mail withdrew from the transpacific trade, it has been impossible for German merchants in China either to travel to the mainland or from it, as the Japanese lines, the only ones left, refuse to carry German passengers or German freight. As the China Mail is an American line, it will carry German passengers, or those of any other nationality.

The liner's American registry has been changed from New York as her home port, to San Francisco. The China Mail is establishing agencies everywhere throughout the Orient.

Makes No Japanese Ports. The China will not call at any Japanese port to take on or discharge freight or passengers. No Japanese freight will be accepted at any port of call.

This voyage, a special call will be made at Shanghai on the outward trip. Stops will be made at Nagasaki on this and future trips, but for coal only.

The China Mail is proving a great help to Manila, as the China will make the run direct from San Francisco and Honolulu to Manila, in 22 days, with only a stop for coal at Nagasaki. The China has on board 3000 bags of mail, of which 1500 are for Manila alone.

This afternoon, from 1:30 until 3 o'clock, a reception was held at Pier 7 in honor of the China's first call here under the China Mail flag.

Hundreds of prominent Honolulu Chinese went on board the ship and met M. Q. Fong, the China Mail's secretary; Director Jung Joe Sum of the line, and the ship's officers, who include Capt. F. E. Frazier, First Officer R. O. Demarest, Chief Engineer M. Foley, Purser K. W. Clark, Freight Clerk C. P. James, Surgeon F. Leach and Chief Steward H. T. Morgan.

The Hawaiian band played a program of selections appropriate to the occasion and Honoluluans in general extended a hearty aloha to the China, the first American steamer to re-enter transpacific trade since the Pacific Mail withdrew. A number of city and territorial officials visited the steamer and extended their wishes for prosperity and steady growth to the new line.
